President's Message

Mentoring – The Wisconsin Experience

During my tenure as President, I hope to expand the concept of mentorship to our Fellows globally. I feel that where there are dental education institutions and dental practitioners, the potential for mentorship exists.

As Lani Becker, Wisconsin Dental Association Director of Member Services, puts it, “a mentor program means many things to many people, but when it comes right down to it, it is a way to share and prepare for the future.” When a mentor relationship can be established, it is a two-way street between the mentor and the protégé. The mentor shares his or her experiences with someone new to the dental community and helps them prepare their future in dentistry after dental school. Mentors will not always have an answer, but they do provide a student with another resource. As we recall, working at the dental school clinic is quite different than practicing in our offices where we must deal with more than just dental procedures, such as staffing, calculating overhead, determining fees, scheduling, as well as developing filing systems, ordering of supplies, and other things that we must take care of or delegate on a regular basis.

The Wisconsin program is designed to provide dental students with an opportunity to learn more about their chosen profession from experienced dentists while they are in school. At the same time, it provides the volunteer dentist the chance to share his or her experiences with a future member of the dental profession. Each mentor is paired with one or more freshman and junior students. The dentist makes a two-year commitment to the program, and interacts with the students on both the social and professional level, the goal being to help mold students into professionals. The students are our future and essentially are what our profession will become.

We, in Wisconsin, are very fortunate to have a fine dental school with a faculty willing to help sponsor the undertaking. In addition, WDA's Young Dentists Committee members are hard working and very open to new ideas. Becoming a mentor is a serious undertaking and not a responsibility to be taken lightly. As stated by one mentorship program spokesman, “A good mentor must actively interact with his or her student...an uncommitted volunteer is more detrimental to the program than no volunteer.” It is essential to select mentors who are ethical, honest, friendly, professional, knowledgeable, and respected by the community and by the profession. They must be congenial and have a positive attitude toward dentistry and a willingness to spend time with the protégé. Mentors should not attempt to be legal advisors and should not feel responsible for helping the student establish a practice.

Mentorship means to counsel, to advise, to help, to support, to aid, and to be a friend. The mentor should introduce the student to the profession, to the community, to the dental organization, to suppliers, and to financial organizations. A mentor needs to inform his protégé about local customs in ethics and advertising and about third-party coverage and to assist whenever possible.

Young dentists are the key to the future of organized dentistry. As stated by past ADA President Eugene Truono, “As I see it, mentors are an integral part of the professional continuum. They represent the passing of the baton, and acting as a cheerleader now and then. But above all, it means being a friend.”

I ask any Section Chair or Trustee who would like some background information on the Wisconsin Mentorship Program to contact me and I will be pleased to share it with you.

The University of Iowa PFA Homecoming 26–27 October 2007, Iowa City, Iowa

Every autumn, about the first of November, the University of Iowa School of Dentistry schedules its grand dental alumni homecoming on a weekend of Friday and Saturday. These days are absolutely filled with various activities to attract all interests in attending.

Friday morning opens early with a continuing education program that runs for both days. These programs not only update the dentist on what is current in their profession as far as education, technology, and instrumentation, but it also defines the role that the University of Iowa dental school has in all that.

Friday afternoon is filled with alumni activities to renew acquaintances and with luncheon gatherings of such organizations as the Pierre Fauchard Academy.

Entering the stadium and visiting its shops one can feel the excitement of the weekend starting to wind to its climax with the football game. This year was particularly exciting as the game went into double overtime with the Hawkeyes beating the Michigan State Spartans on the final play.

The evening hosts an alumni reception followed by a grand banquet in which the Dean discusses the status of the dental school; the alumni organization relates their part in helping the dental school; and the various graduation years that are honored at the banquet present their endeavors on behalf of the school to the many hundreds attending.

Saturday morning hosts more continuing education courses followed by a scrumptious meal and beverages in a tent outside the dental school entrance among the many Iowa Hawkeye tail-gaters with their tents erected throughout the campus. Their flags are fluttering as the smoke from their stoves waif delicious smells through the schoolyard. All are awaiting the afternoon kickoff of their college football team, the Iowa Hawkeyes, at Kinnick Stadium, a short walk across campus through the many cars, trailers, tents, and cooking stoves. The campus, for a few hours becomes the enchanted land of an olde English Faire.

Final play

While this scenario may mirror many such other alumni homecoming events across the land, it is always popular because it always is exciting. Thus our PFA Iowa Section uses this event to call its Fellows into a gathering of friends to renew their friendship and swap stories, hold a brief business session, feast on a delicious luncheon, enjoy a topical speaker, and plan their programs. This year our able past PFA President Larry Barrett enlisted the speaking services of Iowa's newly appointed Assistant Basketball Coach Jordan LaVall, recently recruited from Butler University. The new Iowa Basketball Coach Todd Lickliter and his new staff are preparing for their first season at Iowa, so this topic was of great interest to those attending the luncheon.

Larry Barrett and Coach Jordan LaVall

However, this happening is also a perfect example of how simply most PFA Sections can organize such an event for their own Sections. The University will be holding Homecoming anyway. To interest their alumni to attend, a myriad of activities are held to encourage such attendance, even hotel discounts. The University staff or dental alumni organization undoubtedly would help a Section organize such. The luncheon could be held at a local restaurant, perhaps even on campus. The PFA meeting is an opportunity for Fellows to get together, have a meal, and be informed of what PFA is doing locally and internationally. The PFA Section Awards can be distributed. The PFA Foundation Scholarship winners can be introduced, officers elected, and a speaker of interest can be featured.

Foundation V.P. Larry Barrett receives scholarship check for Iowa

In the case of the Iowa Section, non-alumnus Editor Brophy presented his Foundation Iowa Memorial Scholarship check to Foundation Vice President Larry Barrett. As an aside, not being an alumnus is not a drawback. I was completely embraced by our Fellows as though I was part of their grande weekend.

The Indiana University School of Dentistry Hall of Fame Presentation

Dr. Maynard Kiplinger Hine, DDS, MS

19–20 October 2007—Indianapolis, Indiana

Indiana University School of Dentistry

Driving through torrential rains and hop-scotching tornadoes in our effort to get to Indianapolis from Chicago was weather that Dr. Maynard K. Hine, Dean of Indiana University's School of Dentistry, was not unfamiliar with. Dr. Hine was born in Waterloo, Indiana, in 1907, but returned to Tuscola, Illinois, with his mother three weeks later to where his father had his dental practice. Maynard earned his dental degree in 1930 and masters degree in 1932 at the University of Illinois School of Dentistry in Chicago. He then joined his father (Indiana Dental College '04) in dental practice for three years. Dr. Hine accepted a Carnegie Fellowship and a Rockefeller Scholarship to the University of Rochester in New York before returning to teach oral pathology at the University of Illinois (1936–1944) for the next eight years.

Dr. Henry Swenson, a fellow University of Illinois teacher with Dr. Hine, and later at the Indiana University, told us in interview that Dr. Hine was a great innovator. “He made you think.” He did not seem extraordinary at the time, but when viewing his life as a whole, he did great things. He supported Dr. Ralph Philips of dental materials fame, recruited Dr. Joseph Muhler, creator of the first successful stannous fluoride formula for Crest, Dr. Bill Gilmore, Ralph E. MacDonald of pediatric fame, oral pathologist Dr. William G. Shafer, prosthodontist John F. Johnston, and periodontist Timothy J. O’Leary. He established the Dental Hygiene Program in 1950 at Indiana University and the Department of Endodontics in 1953. He laid the foundation for renovating dental teaching in creating the Indiana Model of Dental Education, which is a dynamic blend of contemporary and traditional learning.

Dr. Hine joined the Indiana University School of Dentistry in 1944 as Chairman of the Oral Histopathology Dept. and the Periodontics Dept. He was appointed Dean in 1945, serving for 23 years.

Currently the IU School of Dentistry has 107 full-time and 113 part-time Faculty members including Dr. Maynard Hine’s two grandsons, Dr. Charles Hine, a clinical assistant professor of endodontics, and Dr. William Hine, Jr, a part-time teacher.

IU dental school Dean Lawrence Goldblatt hosted past PFA President Kevin Roach, Editor Jim Brophy, and DW Photographer Shirley Brophy into his offices at the School of Dentistry to meet and interview Dean Hine’s grandsons William and Charles Hine, Dr. Arden Christen ( author of “An Oral History of Maynard K. Kline, DDS, MS”), and Dr. Henry Swenson, a former classmate of Dr. Hine.

Dr. Kevin Roach from Pembroke, Canada, PFA hall of Fame Chairman, had flown in to officiate at the formal installation of Dean Maynard Hine into the International Hall of Fame at the Indiana University School of Dentistry’s 2007

Fall Dental Conference Alumni Dinner (their 65th Annual). This event added to the highlights of the Dental Alumni Homecoming. A poster in the main dental school hallway called attention to PFA’s honoring Dean Hine.

The PFA presentation was highlighted on page three of the Past Presidents Dinner Program of the Alumni Dinner that Friday evening. The program noted that former Dean Maynard Hine (1907–1996) was to become the 20th inductee into the PFA International Hall of Fame. He had been nominated by our former Indiana Section Chair Ray Maddox, an active IU alumnus who was attending the Dinner with us all. The program went on to note that Dr. Hine had served as the first Chancellor of Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis (1969–1973) and as President of the American Dental Association (1965–1966), and FDI President (1975–1977) among his many other activities and offices serving as President for some eleven dental-related organizations. He founded the Diplomat of American Board of Endodontics, co-authored five books and contributed to numerous journals. He was also a Fellow in ICD and ACD.

Dr. Hine and his wife Harriet had three children, four grandchildren, and five great grandchildren.

Arden G. Christen, DDS, MSD, MA of the Oral Health Research Institute for the Dept. of Preventive Dentistry, authored “An Interview/ An Oral History of Maynard K. Hine, DDS, MS”, 1986, Dental Deans Series—Volume 1, with the foreword by Dean H. William Gilmore, DDS. Dr. Christen relates Dr. Hine’s long and fruitful life career in dentistry. Among his achievements not mentioned before were President of the International Association for Dental Research (1952), the American Association of Dental Schools (1953), the Indiana State Dental Association (1957–1958), and the American Academy of Periodontology. Dr. Hine served many US government agencies like Consultant to the Director of Defense Research and Engineering, member of the Board of Regents to the National Library of Medicine (1959–1963), member of the National Advisory Dental Research Council of the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare (1948–1950, 1964–1968).

Dr. Arden Christen

Dr. Hine received awards too numerous to mention, but he did mention receiving the PFA Gold Medal (1968) in his interview.

Dr. Hine was extremely interested in decay prevention. So he was always active in the construction of the Oral Health Research Institute, and the science behind the use of stannous fluoride in toothpaste and developed the first approved anticariogenic toothpaste Crest.

Dr. Hine was also interested in dental history and made efforts to preserve and teach dental history.

During his time at the University of Illinois, Dr. Hine was offered deanships at the University of Tennessee and at the University of Kentucky, but when a teaching position came open at Indiana University, he accepted the position. And then soon rose to being Dean.

In Dr. Hine's own words, when he took over the dental school, "The budget was low and the salaries were poor. Almost no research was being done." The equipment was poor and old and mostly from the old dental school. The library was inadequate, a chiropractic school shared the dental building, and the freshmen started their dental studies in Bloomington, an hour away, before relocating in Indianapolis for their sophomore year. And then there were the constant battles with the university for more funds to develop the school of dentistry. He united the Bloomington and Indianapolis schools, developed a DDS postgraduate program, and renovated the dental school facilities. Dr. Hine got involved in organized dentistry and encouraged all his faculty to do the same.

Dr. Hine graduated from the University of Illinois School of Dentistry the same year as Harold Hillenbrand did from the Chicago College of Dental Surgery (Loyola University) and they became friends throughout their years of involvement in the ADA. Dr. Hine was close friends with Jerry Timmons as ADA Assistant Secretary as Dr. Timmons had been up for consideration for the Indiana Deanship as well, having served as Acting Dean there. Dr. Timmons went on to become Dean of Temple University School of Dentistry.

Dr. Hine worked intimately with Dr. Hillenbrand, particularly through his years becoming ADA President. Then he withdrew his candidacy for FDI President to allow Dr. Hillenbrand to serve, but then served as FDI President later.

Dr. Hine encouraged his faculty member, Joe Muhler, to develop a better fluoride for toothpaste and he came up with stannous fluoride, got support from Procter & Gamble, and produced Crest toothpaste. I.U. Foundation sold the patents to P&G. Crest won the ADA Seal of Approval. This stimulated competition from other toothpaste manufacturers and established the ADA Seal as an important goal in their advertising. The Crest royalties went to help establish and fund the Indiana Oral Health Research Institute Building, which in turn helped launch Indiana's Research Program and the teaching of Preventative Dentistry.

Dr. Hine supported all this as "prevention is a bridge between theory and the practice of dentistry."

After his retirement from the deanship, Dr. Hine was selected to serve as the Chancellor for the Indiana University. He faced the task of uniting all the various units of the Indiana University and of Purdue University in Indianapolis to form I.U.P.U.I. (Indiana University–Purdue University Institute).

Then there was the task of fighting off the challenges from local interests from forming a separate Indianapolis University.

Dr. Hine served as Editor for the Journal of Periodontology for twenty years (1950–1970). He also was Interim Editor for Journal of Dental Research (1975–1976). He also wrote a monthly column in the Indiana Dental Association Journal called "Hinesight."

Dental school mural painting of the history of Deans at IU School of Dentistry

Dr. Hine was an avid supporter of dental history. "If we do not continue to call attention to the incidents in the past, and to the people who have developed dentistry, the youngsters that are coming out of school will not have any real appreciation for their profession."

That statement pretty well sums up this article, the PFA Hall of Fame and even the mission of PFA. For example, Dr. Hine was the leading authority on the condition of Abraham Lincoln's teeth and had published a few papers on the subject.

This 65th Indiana University Dental Alumni Dinner was the venue for the formal Induction of Dean Maynard K. Hine into the PFA International Hall of Fame. Attending this event in PFA's honor were current Hall of Fame Chairman Dr. Kevin Roach, a past PFA President; immediate past Hall of Fame Chairman Dr. Raymond Klein, a past PFA President; past Indiana Section Chair Dr. Raymond Maddox, who nominated Dean Hine for this honor; PFA Editor Dr. Jim Brophy, and Dental World photographer Shirley Brophy. IU Dean Lawrence Goldblatt had hosted Drs. Roach and Brophy in his office to interview Dean Hine's two dentist grandsons and two of Dr. Hine's closest friends on the dental staff, so our entourage was quite familiar with the Dean's activities, family, and friends. Dr. Kevin Roach was seated at the Hine Family table, while the rest of our group sat at Dr. Maddox's table.

Dean Goldblatt and Dean Hine's grandsons

Dr. Roach led off the program with an excellent introduction in defining the life work of Dean Maynard K. Hine (as cited above) and then presented Dean Goldblatt with the Hall of Fame plaque for Indiana University School of Dentistry's Awards Wall. Then Dr. Roach presented another plaque to the Hine Family. The attending alumni were very impressed. The presentation had been well advertised and lived up to its billing as the keynote feature in their alumni dinner presentation.

PFA Annual Meeting

28–30 September 2007
San Francisco, California

[Due to the PFA Annual Board Meeting occurring so late in the month, just before the publishing deadline, the report of the proceedings of the annual Board Meeting report were not completed before Dental World went to press.]

Section Chair Caucus

28 September 2007

The annual Meeting, which comprises about three days in various sessions, has been initiated by hosting the Section Chair Caucus at the start of the extended meeting schedule. This is a forum for all international Section Chairpersons to meet and discuss their problems, exchange ideas and possible solutions, define future plans, suggest improvements, and meet with the PFA International leadership.

In the past this had been sparsely attended and was usually chaired by the PFA International President. But in recent times the Academy Board has discovered this group to be extremely insightful with many positive results arising out of this session. Instead of the Board meeting in one room and the Caucus in another, the Board as a whole has met with the Caucus at the same time to immediately address issues that can best be immediately exchanged on site at that time. This has allowed the PFA leadership to be informed as to particular needs of the Sections, as well as the difficulties faced by each Section, or as a group. This session allows the leadership to gather ideas to improve local and international relations and problems. Often one Section has faced the same situation and worked out a solution that other Sections could adapt to their problems.

Many times this “brain storming” has resulted in several ideas being put into action on the international level to ease the workload on each other. Since the discussion covers a wide range of topics, sharing mutual experiences from around the globe has helped fine-tune many PFA programs. Some work well; others do not. But they are tried out.

Such was again the case at this Meeting, which hosted the largest Section Chair attendance ever. Trustees Karyn Stockwell of Georgia and Dan Castagna of California chaired the event to give every Section Chair the opportunity to present their programs and solutions. Then the Section Chair Caucus leaders would synthesize the presentations for submission to the PFA Board to address.

Academy Board Meeting

Awards Luncheon Report

This year attendance at the Awards Luncheon was up 10% over the prior year, and 20% over 2005. It was the 10th largest attendance in the last 25 years. Much thanks is due to Richard and Judith Kozal who accept the massive headache of fitting everything into the short time and dealing with all the reservations. The event was packed with awards and honors and ceremonies, but it stayed on time.

Foundation Report

Foundation President M. David Campbell reports an outstanding year of success for the Foundation in being able to carry out its mission of supporting dental student's education through the scholarship program and to fund projects that serve the dental needs of the underserved population worldwide.

Treasurer Bill Kort has been working harmoniously with our CPA Ernest Ridel.

Executive Director Fred Halik has completed notifying the grant applicants of their status.

Foundation Executive Director Report

Past PFA President and current Foundation Executive Director Fred Halik notes that "The worth of any foundation is not necessarily evaluated by the gross size of its treasury, safely guarded in a bank vault, but rather by the results of how its proceed are employed." And that is exactly what your Foundation is doing in awarding scholarships and providing grant money for worthwhile projects.

Dr. Larry Barrett, the Foundation Vice President, has launched a successful Fund-Raising Program to increase the corpus of the invested Foundation funds.

"No foundation succeeds long term without continual infusion of new money."

Foundation Grant Committee Report

Chairman of the Grants Committee Gary Lowder considered 42 grants totaling $384,850. Treasurer Bill Kort noted though that we only have $221,000 available. Basically we need to focus on those organizations that are most dependent on Foundation funds for their success.

Constitution & Bylaws

Chairman Howard Mark reports that the Constitution has been updated.

Web Site

Webmaster Mark Stanley notes the increased traffic and more visitors to our web site. He has established Trustee web pages as well as new pages for the Foundation. On the Editor's web page one can view all the future deadline dates. Web pages are even available for active Section Chairs. Planned new improvements are member e-mail addresses as well as membership name searches.

Since February 2006 page requests have gone up from 27,000 to 46,000 in July 2007. This brings the total of element requests to nearly 4.3 million since 2001 with Dental World responsible for the most at 13% of those requests or about 600,000. This means to you that Dental World is still the best place to advertise your event/program. Past DW issues may be retrieved and printed out, the recent ones in color.

The Dental Museum exhibits features three new exhibits: Dr. Leonard Chapman's dental office at UNLV; Dr. Henry Zeller's dental office at UNLV; and the Dr. "painless" Parker's dental office at the PFA Central Office.

The PFA Bylaws are updated and online for downloading.

Use of the computer internet is growing with 70% penetration in North America; 54% in Australia; and 39% in Europe (17% in Latin America; 11% in Asia; 10% in the Middle East; 4% in Africa).

Shirley Brophy, former photographer for the Illinois Dental Journal, and for the Loyola University School of Dentistry Alumni Bur, and other lay publications was recognized as the official photographer for Dental World. While she had been doing the photography it was necessary to officially designate her as such so she might be admitted into closed sessions for the purposes of taking our dental pictures. She also has established a photographic printing system to accommodate e-photos which Dental World is now using due to her expertise in this field.

Editor James Brophy described the various trips that they covered for President Winspear and how important it was to have another set of eyes, ears, and legs to cover all the event activities.

Awards Committee

Vice President Charles Eller discussed the nomination of some twelve candidates put up for the PFA Gold Medal for this year. The selection was Dr. Richard E. Bradley of Nebraska.

There were three nominations for the Elmer S. Best Memorial Award with Dr. Patrick Henry of Australia selected as the nominee.

Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio of Maryland was unanimously selected for the Distinguished Service Award for this year.

The Dental Trade and Industry Award of Recognition went to the Henry Schein Company of the USA, which is currently called the Sullivan-Schein Company after the merger of two very well-known and respected dental supply companies.

The PFA Certificate of Merit (an international award) was named to be awarded to Dr. Saul Breitman of Argentina.

Hall of Fame Committee

Since Dr. Kevin Roach took over the Chairmanship of the Hall of Fame Committee, he has been a whirl of activity to clear the backlog of names elected for Installation on the Wall of Fame.

Dr. Thomas W. Evans was installed at the Union League Club in Philadelphia last May.

Dr. Percy R. Begg was installed at the University of Adelaide School of Dentistry in Adelaide, Australia, last June.

Dr. Rafiuddin Ahmed was inducted last September in New Delhi, India, in dedicating their new dental society headquarters.

Dean Maynard K. Hine was formally inducted into the Hall of Fame at Indiana University School of Dentistry at their 65th annual Alumni Dinner (see story above) last October.

Dr. Terrance Ward has been on the list since Dr. Joe Cappuccio was Chairman, but succeeding Chairs Raymond Klein and Kevin Roach have not favorably approved the nomination for further processing. Requests from the dental societies of his country have resulted in no further information to indicate his exceptional contributions to the profession to warrant such honor.

Dr. Edward Angle has been approved and is awaiting a venue and date to proceed with his formal installation.

Section Chair Reports

Australasian Section President Mark Sinclair gave their report for 2007.

Dean Daimpo I. Lim retiring Chair of the Philippine Section gave an extensive report on their activities for the year, most of which have appeared in past issues of Dental World. He also introduced Dr. Hermogenes Villareal as his replacement.

Officers Reports

A summary of activities for the year by each of the Executive Officers James Englander and Charles Eller are presented.

Trustee Reports

Trustee Hubert Ouvrard of Region 1 reported on the various activities of the European Sections. Finances seem to be a major impediment to recruitment here as well as in other parts of the world. Only the well-to-do can afford to join. The reports are filled with wonderful promises for next year, though.

Trustee Richard Walsh of Region 2 attended the Breakfast at Yankee Dental Congress last January and the Connecticut Annual Meeting in May. He is meeting with ADA leaders to help resurrect the New Jersey Section. The Maine Chair Rockwell Davis is doing a nice job. Dr. Roger Turkel will assume the Chairmanship for the Rhode Island Section this coming May.

Trustee Robyn Stockwell of Region 3 filed the most complete in-depth Trustee's Report of the meeting.

Trustee Joseph Harris of Region 4 reported regional progress since last year. Michigan and Wisconsin Sections turned in complete and comprehensive reports. Illinois finally responded. Dr. Matthews of Indiana and Dr. Karl Lange of Kentucky are involved in organized dentistry. Dr. Schneider of Ohio held their annual meeting last September.

Trustee Daniel Castagna of Region 5 gave his first report as attending Section Meetings in Southern California, Oregon, Washington State, and Illinois. Membership loss through "aging" has been a main problem. The older members are dying off, though Region 5 did have a slight increase in growth.

Trustee Barry Dolman of Region 6 presented a very in-depth report on Canadian activities, most of which have been published throughout the year.

Trustee Ernesto Acuna of Region 7 participated in the Chile Induction ceremony in Santiago last May hosted by Chair Dr. Pabla Barrientos at the Hotel Intercontinental bringing in ten new Fellows and recognizing Dr. Alejandro Cekalovic, President of the National Association of Dentists of Chile. The Mexico Section Induction Ceremony last November inducted ten new members into Fellowship. The ceremony was held at the Centro Asturiano in Mexico City.

Retiring Australasian Trustee Jonathan Rogers of Region 8 reported hosting their PFA Breakfast Meeting during the Australian Dental Association Biennial Congress last March with 44 new Fellows being inducted by Australasian President Mark Sinclair and International President William Winspear. Then there was the Adelaide celebration for the Hall of Fame induction of Dr. Percy R. Begg last June attended by Dean Professor Johann DeVries (a PFA Fellow) and Dr. Ian Watson, the Oceania Representative for the World Federation of Orthodontists. They have decided to divide their three Foundation Scholarship Awards to cover all six of their dental schools with smaller funded scholarships like Canada does.

Trustee Mamoru Sakuda for Region 9 (Asia) attended the Philippine 27th Annual Convocation and Luncheon last April, where Dr. Hermogenes Villareal will succeed Dean Lim as Section Chair. Several Japanese representatives attended the Korean Section annual Meeting last June in Seoul. The Japan Section Meeting in Sapporo, Hokkaido, last October was well attended where Dr. Toshio Morioka stepped down as the Chair for the Japan Section (by order of their ByLaws); and Dr. Hirokazu Hashimoto succeeded to the position of Section Chair. Dr. Mamoru Sakuda will remain as the Trustee for Region 9.

Steve Hedlund will be retiring as Trustee for Region 10 and installed as PFA International Vice President. He has attended the Nebraska PFA Luncheon, the Iowa PFA Banquet last May, and the Oklahoma PFA Breakfast. Due to the untimely passing of our dear friend Bill Goodman, Dr. Matt Cohlmi will ascend to the Oklahoma Section Chair.

Unfinished & New Business

The Board agreed not to upgrade and relocate the Hall of Fame venue at the National Dental Museum in Baltimore, while the Board is not happy with the current location of the Hall of Fame plaque display. As Immediate past President Howard Mark put it in his letter to the museum, "The cost is entirely too much for the Academy to undertake, and, given the mission of the PFA Foundation relative to scholarships and service to the underserved across the world, The Academy would not be a source of any amount approaching your request."

The Management Committee in session in Oklahoma City agreed to become a partner in the ADA Foundation concept, "Dental Education, Our Legacy—Our Future." It was noted that the Pierre Fauchard Academy is a separate entity from the PFA Foundation and does not raise funds for itself other than membership dues.

Trustee Daniel Castagna was selected as the PFA Representative to attend the FDI Congress in Dubai, UAE.

The Asian Pacific Dental Organization will be meeting in Hong Kong in May, 2009. PFA ought to be prepared to host a reception there for our Section Chairs to meet.

Discussion ensued about defining the world borders as they apply to our Region divisions and perhaps renaming them to better reflect the areas they represent. This subject was placed on the agenda for further study.

The relationship between the Academy and the Foundation was discussed and referred to the Executive Committee for resolution.

Closing Comments by President James Englander

Dr. Englander discussed his intentions to build on President Winspear's Fellowship recruitment. He would like to see more internationality. But a main thrust of his year would be more mentorship.

Foundation Board Meeting

Saturday, 29 September 2007

President David Campbell called the Board to order with Jim Long giving the Invocation. The Minutes from the Las Vegas Foundation Board Meeting on 16–17 October 2006 had been distributed and were accepted by the Board. Reports of the Executive Officers were given and accepted.

The annual budget was discussed and approved as presented by the Budget & Finance Committee (Treasurer William Kort).

The Board then went over the progress of their assets with Frank Buchholz of the Bank of America, who reviewed all their investments and suggested future trends and pitfalls. This was included in the Treasurer's Report.

Frank Buchholz addressing the Foundation

They then agreed to accept corporate donations from other than PFA members.

The issue of succession to and off the Foundation Board was discussed and resolved. Dr. Min Horiuchi was the oldest serving Trustee and would go off the Board. Drs. Scott Welch has been ill and Nicolas Saccone has an injury, making it impossible to travel. Oncoming Trustee William Winspear wished to serve only for one year and then go off the Board. Past PFA President Ray Klein has been considering serving if asked since he is finished with serving as ACD President.

Michael Perpich presented a Web site report.

The Board voted to suspend the Interim Meeting as they had no urgent business to transact.

Grants Chair Gary Lowder then presented the Grant Applications for review. There were some 46 from some 28 States or countries covering some 22 pages of review. It was a long afternoon.

Foundation Fund-Raising Imperative

Foundation Vice President C.F. Larry Barrett, Chairman of the Fund-Raising Committee, expressed his concerns over the need for the Foundation to generate revenue to stay ahead of the inflationary loss of the existing funds, compensate for the lower earned revenue from the corpus, and to avoid IRS tax penalties. "I believe that many of our Fellows think that we are undertaking a one-shot request for funds to bridge an imaginary time period. We are not doing that particularly. We are trying to develop a basis of ongoing revenue/income for the future as well. In introducing the various means to do this, it appears we are taking a shotgun approach to gathering funds. That is not our purpose. We have asked for some immediate assistance to catch up on the needed money gathering, and for your generosity in that we thank you all who have helped. But the remainder of the Fund-Raising Program is to build a foundation for future income to support the Foundation over time.

After the Awards Luncheon, Board then discussed other business as receiving the report from the Academy President, the Constitution and Bylaws Committee report, the Public Relations Committee, the Disaster Fund Committee, and the Special Order of Business concerning the legal relationship between the Academy and the Foundation.

Dr. Larry Barrett's Fund-Raising Program and its initial success was discussed. Dr. Barrett will initiate another round of appeals from different perspectives. He also was collecting donations for the Shira Fellowship Awards.

St. Leo's Clinic, an Esperanza Project, is near the Del Mar racetrack in a needy Latin area. Thanks to the initial Foundation grant, it has become self-sustaining. With additional help from the local Rotary Club, the Clinic is in a new building and has six dental units. The Clinic is open on Wednesday evenings and all day Saturday, entirely staffed by volunteers. A major focus for this Clinic is the Welcome Home Ministry. Women who have been released from prison have the needed Oral Surgery and prosthetics done by Drs. Kingston and Bobbitt. They are then able to go back into society with a pleasant smile and no dental worries.

An Esperanza Tijuana project is examining over 300 orphans from ten orphanages there, over 200 of the children were in desperate need of dental care. The health clinic is in an area of extreme poverty. The dental office consisted of an 8' x 10' room, in which there were two dental units. Supplies were minimal. A phone call to Dr. Robert Ibsen of Den Mat Corporation resulted in receiving twenty boxes of restorative materials. Charles and Gloria Eller along with Roger Kingston delivered them personally to the clinic. Chuck donated eight jars of fluoride treatment paste.

Dental students in Mexico have their school tuition paid for by the government, but in return they are to give one year of service in dentistry to the public clinic. At the Tijuana Clinic one such recent graduate from Sinaloa Dental School was ecstatic when she saw the dental supplies that Drs. Eller and Kingston brought down to her. Another lady dentist will be joining her shortly.

Japan

Foundation President Campbell receives Japan donation from Chair Toshio Morioka

The San Diego Children's Dental Health Center is located in a small neat cottage in a nice residential area of downtown San Diego. It is well staffed with permanent employees with sufficient dentists who volunteer their time. The waiting rooms are filled with bright-eyed children who have no fear of the dentist. They go to the Butterfly Room, the Fish Room, or the Zoo Room depending on their individual dental needs. The staff was deeply appreciative for the Foundation grant.

Joan Kroc, the recently deceased wife of Ray Kroc of MacDonald's fame, built a block-long complex for the indigent in downtown San Diego. This is a residence building with a dining area and a medical clinic. A visit to the distressed area by Dr. Chuck Eller showed that it was only about ten blocks from the extreme opulence of San Diego. A line of about 100 people stood waiting for food. Next to the line was a medical-dental clinic with a very compact four-chair dental clinic. A full-time dentist is employed there. And the clinic seems well-run. The staff knew who the PFA was and were very thankful for all the funding help that the Foundation provided. Thanks to that, the clinic now provides minor prosthetic treatment and even some orthodontics.

Three UCSD Student-run Free Dental Clinics are well known in the area. The brainchild of Dr. Irv Silverstein has become a model for others to follow. It is managed by pre-dental students who then advance to dental student status to become dentists.
